

No matter what happens, no matter how far you seem to be always from where you want to be, never stop believing that you will make it. Have an unrelenting belief that the long road has a purpose, that the things that you desire may not happen today, but they will happen. Continue to persist and persevere.

Just true friendship is not measured by how far we've been together but rather how well it has been between us. So also real bonding is not measure by time we've spent together in each other company but rather the solace and solitude that comes with being with you, my awesome friend. You more than you know.

It's wrong. Talk to strangers. Open up. And if you see a group of people doing what they are doing. Do it. Knowing how they'll turn out.